

2017 Stream Clean-up

You now have the power to make a positive change right outside your door!

The Perkiomen Watershed Conservancy has taken a giant leap forward in the fight against stream pollution! Starting today, you now have the ability to immediately combat trash in our watershed through Trash Spot! Trash Spot is the Conservancy's new smartphone app designed to give you the power to report trash sites and pollution within the 362 square miles of the Perkiomen Watershed. Simply type www.perkiomenwatershed.org/trashspot into your smartphone's browser then follow the prompts to report the trash. Trash Spot is designed to use your phone's geo-location software to accurately report your position to the Conservancy. The information you provide is compiled into our database and used to develop our Stream Clean-Up project site plan.

Don't just stop at reporting! Join the Perkiomen Watershed Conservancy and hundreds of your neighbors on April 8, 2017 from 9 am to 12 pm as we take to the streams to beautify our watershed! Visit our website: <https://www.perkiomenwatershed.org/stream-clean-up/> to sign up for a site near you today!

Are you a business owner? Contact us at 610.287.9383 to learn how you can get your employees in on the action and your logo up on our site and printed on our shirts!
